

AAT Code of Ethics

“American Academy of Thermology members shall use their position to provide service consistent with all applicable local, state, and federal regulations; and conduct themselves as per the certified individuals primary discipline or areas of discipline.

The information they provide to get credentialed will be the truth. The member will update their knowledge and use the certification for intended purposes only. He/she will not provide false or misleading correlation based on thermal imaging. Their use of thermal imaging will be primarily based on scientific knowledge and to meet the standard of care required. “